Voting Instructions:

This is the voting ballot for the Anime Music Video Contest. Bring it along with you to any of the AMV Contest screenings—on Friday afternoon, Friday night, Saturday morning, or Saturday afternoon—so you can vote for your favorite Anime Music Videos.

You may vote for your single favorite AMV in each of the five categories: One in Romantic/Sentimental, one in Serious/Dramatic, one in Action.... you get the idea. To vote for an AMV, simply mark the numbered circle in each category corresponding to the AMV you think is the best.

Once you've watched the contest and selected your favorite videos, please tear off the top half of this card. The top half is the ballot and the bottom half is yours to keep. The information may help you to track down a video on your own after the con. Ballots can be dropped off at the end of the showing in the ballot box at the front of the screening room, or you can drop them off later in the ballot box at the Otakon Info Desk. Votes must be put in a ballot box by 4:00 PM on Saturday afternoon to be counted!

The music videos that receive the largest number of votes in each category are declared the winners, and their makers win some anime stuff and the justification to walk around with a big cheesy grin until next year's con.

We'll announce the winners before the end of the convention, and put all the information up on Otakon's web site, <http://www.otakon.com>, one to two weeks after the convention is over and the staff has recovered from sheer exhaustion.

PLOT SPOILER WARNING: Anime Music Videos are sometimes made with video clips taken from the most important parts of an anime, so if you haven't finished watching a particular series you may not want to watch AMVs that feature it prominently, as it might "spoil the plot" for you. In other words: Watch at your own risk!

If you'd like to vote but still keep a ballot as a souvenir of the con, check out the Free Stuff table on Sunday afternoon—if there are any AMV ballots left, we'll put them out there for people to take home.

(We're sorry, but we cannot distribute copies of the AMV Contest. If you see a really great music video at Otakon you'll have to track it down for yourself. We recommend using your favorite search engine as a starting point.)
